

BDCP Restoration Opportunity Areas

Restoration Opportunity Areas (ROA) are large areas of the Delta within which specific sites may be identified for habitat restoration based on assessments of land use and other issues addressed through further analyses of feasibility.

Potential habitat restoration opportunities within each ROA are described in:

Draft Habitat Restoration Program Technical Team Recommended Conservation Measures for Consideration by the BDCP Steering Committee (Sept. 19, 2008 BDCP Steering Committee handout).

Source: California Department of Water Resources, 2007.
 California Department of Fish and Game, 2007.
 California Spatial Information Library, 2008.